Q: Is there any way to insert into database in Laravel without model? Is there any way to insert data into database table in Laravel without model? Cause I'm planning to make package for Laravel. I want to make packages to be able to insert data into database. A: You could add that to some function or whatever. `$your_data = YourData($input)` Which calls your function and puts all the data into a `$your_data` variable. We explored the effects of differences in mothers' age on their children's attachment at age 2, in an urban New York sample. When maternal age was conceptualized as an attachment marker (6 to 18 vs. 19 to 44 years) it was associated with children's attachment behaviors but not with mothers' attachment. When maternal age was considered in terms of experiential knowledge about the transition to adulthood (24 to 28 vs. 29 to 45 years), it was associated with mothers' total experience of the transition to adulthood and their conviction that they were not ready for this transition. The findings are discussed in terms of how the current literature (unlike the work in our previous studies) failed to differentiate between early and mid-life attachment. Lesions, aneurysms and other abnormalities of the aortic arch are some of the most common of peripheral arterial disease, and pose a significant risk of sudden and catastrophic clinical deterioration. Although open surgical repair with hypothermic circulatory arrest has been a major determinant of improved outcomes after operation, it remains controversial because it has numerous complications and prohibitive costs, and the procedure is still considered a last resort by most vascular surgeons. Dacron patch angioplasty of the ascending aorta has emerged as a technique with low morbidity and mortality, but its effectiveness for treatment of the aortic arch and ascending aorta has not been well studied in randomized controlled trials. In the current application for a R01, we would assess the safety, feasibility, and efficacy of angioplasty of the aortic arch as an alternative surgical treatment of these high-risk aortic lesions. We propose to randomize 146 patients in a single-blinded trial to
